

I chose to work on the 3 characters I felt looked the best and would be the most fun to work on. With the wizard guard I tried a number of different faces and things but the design I like the most is when I went completely original and completely changed the hat and curved the spear. I think I still want to work on the design a little more but I think it looks fun.

The mushroom samurai I experimented with the type of mushroom but I ultimately decided that I love the idea of the top of the mushroom having an eye is just cool so I love that in the design

The dog hero, I experimented with changing the head but the original style looks the best. I know I said the more complex designs I liked more but for some reason the simplicity of the dog head feels the best

hand + Paw

Child Proportions

