

<https://youtube.com/shorts/qyj8UouOOgA?feature=share>

I still struggled a bit with this. I felt at the start I had to fight after effects to get it to do what I wanted. There were so many tools I never used before I had to google tutorials to help me get an understanding of what to do then through a bunch of trial and error I was able to use it effectively. The more I used it the better understanding I got from it. It felt super rewarding to push through and make a somewhat decent thing.

