I did a lot for this week's tasks. I spent a lot of time texturing boxes and a shelf and making labels and texturing bottles. I also modeled a table. I had a lot of fun designing the labels. The bleach I had to redo because it was too distracting but this is my attempt at pushing the limits and learning what I can and can't do. I will say this though I spent more time on this then i did any of my other classes this week. I love the work but I might have to slow down a little or my other classes could suffer… or give up my weekends (which i will probably end up doing…)
